*The Congress for the New Urbanism,
New England Chapter*

The Congress for the New Urbanism (CNU) is an international non-profit dedicated to building and restoring places people love. CNU brings together architects, planners, developers, engineers, and citizen advocates dedicated to making their communities walkable, equitable, sustainable, and dynamic.

CNU's New England Chapter creates opportunities for local urbanists to connect and build strong cities and towns throughout New England.

CNU New England is a critical resource for me as a government leader. Through its programs and diverse network, I have discovered groundbreaking practices and ideas that help me sustain and grow my city.

-Jonathan LaBonté, Mayor of Lewiston, ME

building great connections creating great neighborhoods

WHO WE ARE

CNU New England is a community of like-minded people dedicated to building strong cities and towns. Your contribution to our annual program gives you special opportunities to connect with our broad network of government and private sector leaders, citizen advocates, students, and academics, as well as professionals in architecture, urban planning, design, law, real estate development, finance, and engineering.

WHAT WE DO

CNU works at many scales to target key issues like sustainability, equity, and transportation reform from multiple angles. Our members work to advance policies and community conversations that restore and revive thriving places. At the regional level, CNU-NE helps incubate and amplify our members' innovative work in the overlapping fields of design, development, finance, and advocacy.
